

DID YOU GET

your bumps yet? The trolley company got theirs, the trolley riders got theirs, business men who ride on the cars are getting theirs, the people who won't ride until the strike is over have certainly had theirs, and the city of Waterbury got theirs (from the outside newspapers), and now the "cops" are booked. Well, in all probability, the brass-buttoned, blue-coated, stern-looking "cops" are to get theirs. Well, we can't find fault as to their size, because there are big, tall fellows as well as shorties (the latter known as hampered downs). They can't be charged with not being on hand when wanted because they are not built so as to be at the four corners of their beat at any one particular minute. They can't be charged with not patrolling the beautiful, shady, well-made sidewalks and the delightful drive ways in "Hamilton Park." No, and it will be the duty of a long time before they'll be needed in the said park unless some good citizen opens his pocketbook and heart. Say, the only charge the "cops" can be convicted on is if one of them should, upon his mouth and say there are any baseball players on the force, the guilty ones in such a case could be dropped without a hearing, because they could be proven insane in ten seconds. CITY NEWS.

There was no city court to-day.

American band promenade at City hall Friday evening.

Don't fail to attend the Moonlight Athletic club concert and promenade at City hall to-night. Music by Lallier's full orchestra.

Sale this Friday and Saturday. Best Italian prunes this sale 7½c, regular 10c. Try 8 o'clock Breakfast Coffee, 25c. The Great A. & P. Tea Co.

Mayor Kilduff has accepted an invitation from the New London board of trade to attend the launching of the Minnesota at that place to-day.

Special forecast for Connecticut: Cloudy to generally fair to-night, except probably rain on the northern coast; Friday cloudy to partly cloudy; brisk to high northeast to northwest winds.

The thirty-sixth annual concert and promenade by the Young Men's Catholic Literary association will be held in Leavenworth hall to-morrow night. Lallier's orchestra will furnish music for the dancing and Prof Bouffard will be promoter. Tickets admitting gentlemen and ladies are 50 cents each. A large number of tickets have already been sold.

A book agent who visits the local attorneys twice a year, speaking of the literary tendencies of the various communities he visits throughout New England said to-day that Waterbury for its size is the third best city in the country for the book agent. Pittsfield, Mass. for its size is the first, then comes Holyoke, next Waterbury, and Bangor, Me. fourth.

On Easter Sunday evening the Rev J. J. Fitzgerald of the Sacred Heart church gave a powerful discourse in St Mary's church, East Hartford. A large and appreciative audience followed the preacher in his study of the "Divinity of Christ as Proved by His Resurrection." It was a masterly presentation of the subject and was made doubly interesting by the reverend speaker's vigorous delivery.

About four hundred people attended the first annual sociable of the Merrimac baseball association which was held in Leavenworth hall last night. A merry time was enjoyed by all present. Faulmann's orchestra, furnished music for the dancing. The success of the delightful event was due to the following committee: James Hayes, chairman; Michael Slavin, Thomas Driscoll, Jeremiah Ring and William Ghent.

The contract for the erection of the proposed new church and rectory for St Francis Xavier's church corporation has been awarded to Edward Bergen & Sons, contractors and builders of this city. The plans were prepared by Chickering & O'Connell of Boston. The work will be commenced immediately. The lot on which the buildings will be erected fronts on Baldwin and Washington streets and it is a very desirable location. The buildings will face Baldwin street.

At the annual meeting of Waterbury council, R. and S. M., last night, the following officers were installed: Third illustrious master, Walter H. Ruggles; illustrious deputy master, Walter C. Bon; principal conductor of the works, George C. O'Rourke; treasurer, Wilbur P. Bryan; recorder, George E. Irlon; captain of the guard, Charles S. Weeks; conductor, Frank T. Beardsley; steward, Frederick E. Stanley; sentinel, Charles W. Hotchkiss. The ceremony was conducted by Eugene C. Adt, acting most potent grand master, and F. E. Stanley, grand marshal.

The will of the late Asa C. Peck, who died last Sunday, was filed for probate yesterday afternoon. The estate is said to be valued at about $125,000. The instrument was drawn up thirteen years ago and the late Daniel F. Webster was named executor. All those interested have now agreed upon the son, Franklin L. Peck, as administrator. The provisions of the will give to the widow, Sarah A. Peck, the house in which the family lived, its furniture and all testator's personal effects. The real estate is divided between the widow and the son Franklin.

The fourth semi-annual concert and promenade by the Scorchers club will to-morrow night there will be a notable gathering of men prominent in the order throughout Connecticut, including Past Grand Master Workman Clarendon C. Bulkeley of Hartford, Grand Foreman Hugh A. Keenan of New Haven, Grand Recorder James A. Knox, also of New Haven, Supervisor William G. Hard of Naugatuck, District Deputy Grand Master Workman George V. Gooding of Waterbury, as well as officers and members of Thomaston lodge, No. 4, of Thomaston. The occasion is the initiation of the 100th member of the local lodge with two others.

The Upon Jewelry Co would suggest to all the young men who took their advice about the engagement ring, that when they get ready to furnish the home they should pay them another visit and select their tableware, etc., and save something to put into the wedding present, which we shall be glad to furnish. It will be just like finding the latter.

The annual banquet of the Y. M. C. A. basketball league will be held in the gymnasium to-night.

A battalion drill will take place at the armory to-night. Major Tillson of New Haven will command.

The directors of the Fair Haven and Westville railroad have decided to allow firemen and policemen, in full uniform, to ride free on the cars of the system on and after to-day.

The jury and Judge Peasley resumed business in the district court to-day. The case before their consideration was that of M. P. and M. A. Lawlor against John Hitchcock for $400 rent.

James Mansfield of River street and Miss Nellie O'Connell of North Willow street were married this morning at the Immaculate Conception church by the Rev Father Slocum. The witnesses were Michael Dowling and Miss Mary Quilter.

John Lombard, for whose arrest a warrant was issued some time ago, was arrested this morning about 10 o'clock by Officer Tehan in Exchange place. He is said to have stolen a clock some time ago and after doing so left the city.

If this weather continues much longer people will begin to have faith in the story of the "borrowed days." It would not be hard to convince anybody that this, though many might say that March borrowed it from January instead of from April.

Cornelius McDermott of Bishop street and Miss Mary Lynch of Baldwin street were married this morning at the church of the Immaculate Conception, the Rev Father O'Brien performing the ceremony. Charles Lynch was best man and Miss Margaret O'Reilly was maid of honor.

The Hampson-Sellaw Furniture Co., which is very up-to-date, is already occupying its large and commodious quarters in the new Commercial building, 116-120 Bank street. The store, however, is not finished yet, but the workmen are busily engaged in fixing things and the store will be ready for occupancy in a short time.

The funeral of Mrs Mary Daly took place this morning from the family residence on Emerald street, with a mass of requiem at the Immaculate Conception church by the Rev Father Broderick and interment in Calvary cemetery. The bearers were Jeremiah Flynn, Morgan Dowling, John Dowling, Thomas Murphy, Daniel Regan and Maurice Griffin.

Jessie Sherwood of Danbury and Miss Katie Irene Ney of Waterbury were married yesterday morning by Rev Father Gleeson of St Patrick's church. The bridesmaid was Miss Addie Connor of Waterbury and the best man was John P. Morgan of Hartford. The couple left on the 11:33 train for Washington, D. C., and will reside at 33 East Liberty street on their return.

John Sealski, who boards with Mrs John Bandler, thought that the change of weather demanded that he should wear an extra suit of clothes to-day. So unknown to his landlady he took a suit of clothes belonging to her husband, put them on and then put his own suit of clothes over them and walked out of his boarding house about 7 o'clock this morning. As he was going out his boarding mistress noticed that he looked rather thick. She followed him as he made his way along Bank street to the Naugatuck depot. Officers Cronin and Goggins were informed of the matter and about 7:45 they captured their man as he was about to board a train. In one of his pockets was found a ten dollar bill, which Samuel Miller, a fellow boarder of the arrested man, said was his.

The funeral of Mrs Annie Carey took place this morning from the family residence on Dikeman street with a mass of requiem at the Immaculate Conception church by the Rev Father Broderick and interment in St Joseph's cemetery. The bearers were James Fitzgerald, George Morton, John Bowe and George Smith. The floral tributes included a cross from the Carpenters' union; pillow, Margaret Sarah and Lizzie Bowe; wreath, Michael Bowe and family; bouquets, Mrs Anna Gully, Marion Andrews Morris, classmates of Ada and Frank Carey at the Walsh school; Mr and Mrs Michael Kilduff, Mr and Mrs Numa, Mrs Keegan and family; Easter lilies, J. Edward, David and Mrs Kenyon.

Dr Munn is very hopeful of the triumph of his pet scheme regarding the repeal of the compulsory vaccination law. He says if they don't win now they will at the next session of the general assembly. They intend to inaugurate a system of education on this matter which will put compulsory vaccination before the public in all its hideousness and after this has been accomplished no sensible man will want to stand in the way of consigning such an enactment into the grave of oblivion. He regards Representative Lines as one of their worthy champions and judging by what he said on the subject to-day Waterbury's representative in the house may be chosen to lecture on the evils of vaccination from now on until the law is wiped off the statute books.

Mayor Kilduff and City Attorney Kellogg have been in Hartford a good deal during the present session of the general assembly, but it doesn't appear that the law-makers have taken much notice of what they said. It is what Senator Tracy and Representative Lines and Cross say that counts, and rightfully so, too. Didn't the people send them there to represent Waterbury? Yes, and a large number of electors who feel very much aggrieved at their conduct on certain measures were active in seeing that they got there, and are finding fault because their neighbors who tried hard to keep them out are not constantly throwing stones at them. People who are now heaping abuse upon Tracy, Lines and Cross should keep quiet and see that they make a more judicious use of the franchise the next time they get the white slip of paper in their hands. These men are all right, but they don't look at things from the same standpoint as many who supported them do, but so long as they assisted in placing them in the positions they hold they have no right to rail at them if they think they are passing laws that tend to force them to the wall. The only honorable course open to them is to swallow their indignation for the present and keep their eyes open a little wider in the future.

WOULDN'T BE VACCINATED.

Secretary of Anti-Vaccination League a Victim of Smallpox.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 1.—Health department officials are pointing to the death of Charles Stevens yesterday as a signal instance of the fallacy of the anti-vaccination position. As secretary of the Anti-vaccination league of this city, Mr Stevens had steadfastly refused to be vaccinated.

It is regarded as a significant fact that the attack to which Mr Stevens succumbed was the most malignant case of smallpox on record in this city. From the first the physicians entertained scarcely a hope of saving him. Mr Stevens had frequently denounced vaccination as a barbarous practice entirely without efficacy in either preventing or staying the progress of smallpox.
